Tirpitz Torpedoing Crushes Nazi Bid for Sea Rule

BATTLESHIP HIDES OUT IN NORWAY FJORD

Hit By Two Torpedoes From Russian Sub In Battle on Convoy Route.

PUT OUT OF ACTION

Allies Scour Barents Sea In Determined Hunt For Wounded Ship.

LONDON—A daring bid by Nazi Germany for control of the vital Arctic sea lanes by which Great Britain and the United States are sending supplies to Soviet Russia was believed crushed today with the crippling of Adolf Hitler's giant battleship Tirpitz by a Soviet submarine.

The Tirpitz, unlike her sister ship the Bismarck, was not sunk.

But last reports placed her out of action in a Norwegian fjord, punctured by two torpedoes launched against her by a Russian submersible in the Barents sea.

When hit in any vital spot, ships of this class and caliber invariably are laid up for an indefinite period British naval authorities hailed the torpedoing of the vessel as a major step in clearing the northern waters for continued successful shipping of supplies to the Russian battlefront.

The Tirpitz was hit in the course of what future history may reveal to have been one of the most violent naval encounters of the war.

A German communique issued on Tuesday, at a moment when Hitler was resorting to the most fanciful exaggerations in an effort to divert home attention from his serious setbacks on the Egyptian front, claimed that 32 out of 38 vessels in an Anglo-American convoy had been sunk on their way to Murmansk.

The Tirpitz, escorted by three heavy cruisers and eight destroyers, was part of the Nazi attacking force.

Britain has not yet announced safe arrival of the convoy at its destination. But the Soviet newspaper Pravda said it pulled in safely and in the light of past performances, it was assumed in London that the German claims, if not without founda-

Nazis' Trial Continuing In Secrecy

General Rebuffs Attempt To Get Information For Public.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—As the trial of the eight German saboteurs entered its second day, a showdown was in progress at the White House today over the extreme secrecy and lack of information so far attendant on the proceedings. President Roosevelt called in Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Elmer Davis, head of the Office of War Information.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Twelve more suspected German agents have been seized by federal authorities in connection with the gigantic Nazi plot to sabotage American war industries, it was learned today as the trial of the eight German saboteurs landed in this country by German submarines entered its second day.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The trial of eight German saboteurs who were landed in the United States by submarines entered its second day today.

But that was about all anyone not directly connected with the trial knew.

Even office of war information officials admitted that they had lost their fight to persuade the military commission to release any publicity during the trial.

The information that the trial "would resume in the morning (today)" was given by Attorney General Francis Biddle. It was, in fact, the first official word that the trial had even started, although it was obvious yesterday that it was underway.

Biddle was almost apologetic with reporters when he told them he could say nothing because he was under orders from Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, president of the commission.

"I don't want to be court-martialed," he said laughingly.

The OWI's attempt to get at least daily statements on the trial involved the new chief of the OWI, Elmer Davis, in his first major controversy.

The climax came Tuesday, it was learned today, when Davis appointed Henry Paynter, OWI representative, to meet with the military commission and plan re-

City's Auxiliary Firemen to See Fire Fighters at Work

Members of Mansfield's auxiliary firemen studying courses for civilian defense will be given a demonstration in fire fighting technique tomorrow at 7 30 p m. at the north end of Walnut street.

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger said today that a crew of firemen from the city's fire department would give the exhibition, demonstrating the proper use of hose, ladders and pumpers.

The fire chief said that about 80 auxiliary firemen are expected to attend the demonstration and urged other residents interested in civilian defense work to be on hand.

Chief Seeburger said that the exhibition will be given in the vacant lot at the foot of Walnut street. He stated that this was the most centrally-located place available which affords the space and facilities necessary for the demonstration.

In announcing the program, the fire chief urged all Mansfield men interested in civilian defense work to enroll as auxiliary firemen. He said that an additional 75 men would be needed before the emergency stations planned by the civilian defense council could be manned.

Courses in first aid and fire-fighting technique are taught auxiliary firemen in sessions at the city's four fire stations on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

OPA Says Price Ceilings on Frozen Fruit to Increase.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The office of price administration has announced that ceiling prices for frozen fruits and vegetables of the 1942 crop and for jams, jellies and preserves made from the new fruit would be raised shortly.

The ceiling on peanuts and peanut butter may be discarded entirely in September, said the announcement which was issued last night.

A 15 per cent boost in the retail ceiling prices of canned and dried fruits of the 1942 pack already has been announced. Price Administrator Henderson said the increases were made because of the preferred price treatment which congress authorized for farm products and because of his inability to get subsidy program under which the government would absorb increased costs.

THIRD BOARD NAMED UNDER NEW SYSTEM

Serves 14 of 18 Townships In County; Mansfield's Board Enlarged.

Expansion of Richland county's rationing organization, including enlargement of the Mansfield board and appointment of a third board to serve 14 townships of the county, was announced today by James Bailey, executive secretary of the county's rationing system.

The Mansfield board, increased to six members instead of the former three, assembled this afternoon for its first organization meeting. Emerson S. Weller remains as chairman, and the board's offices are in the Farmers Bank building.

The new board, headed by R. D. Hale, also met for the first time at its board office, located at 200 Park avenue west, in the former offices of Dr. D. R. Talbot, now a Navy officer. In addition to Hale, members are E. J. Kallmerten and C. N. Shultz. Mrs. Della Gandert is secretary.

This board will observe office hours of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., daily except Saturday. It will serve residents of Butler, Bloominggrove, Franklin, Weller, Sandusky, Springfield, Madison, Mifflin, Troy, Washington, Monroe, Perry, Jefferson and Worthington townships.

The third rationing board in the county, located at Shelby, serves four townships — Plymouth, Cass, Sharon and Jackson. M. S. Freeman is chairman

The Mansfield board has jurisdiction over the city of Mansfield proper. Both Weller and James Lucas, members of the three-man board, are retained in the new set-up, and new members are Howard Neff, Frank Alger, Lloyd Dillon and Alfred Gilmore. J. Leo Hartmann, the other member of the former board, recently resigned.

The rationing organization now is concerned with rationing of sugar, automobiles, tires, tubes, camelback, retreads, and typewriters. Within a few days it will start issuing authorization certificates for purchase of bicycles.

DIVORCE SUIT TIES UP FUNDS

E. W. Heath, Officer, Director of Plymouth Plant, Accused of Neglect, Cruelty.

Charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty, Mrs. Grace Heath of Plymouth, filed suit for divorce in Richland county common pleas court today against Earl W. Heath, an officer and director in the Fate-Root-Heath Manufacturing company at Plymouth. She obtained temporary injunctions tieing up funds in three banks.

As defendants, in addition to her husband, the plaintiff names the Fate-Root-Heath company and three banking institutions, the People's National bank at Plymouth, the Shiloh Savings bank and the Willard United bank.

Mrs. Heath asked that the three banks named be enjoined from paying to Heath or anyone else except the plaintiff any sums of money from either checking or savings accounts.

The plaintiff also asks for a temporary order restraining the defendant from disposing or encumbering 435 1-3 shares of stock in the Fate-Root-Heath company. Further, she asks that the latter company be restrained from transferring to the defendant any stock certificates of the capital stock of the corporation or of any interest in the same, or in the defendant's stock holdings of the company without the surrender of certifi-

Navy Relief Drive Tops $6,300 Goal By $1,369 Figure

The Navy Relief drive in Mansfield and Richland county, aimed at a goal of $6,300, went over the top by $1,369, Harry S. Black, campaign chairman, announced today.

Black said that final reports on the campaign shows that $7,702 was collected in the drive although there was no personal solicitation of funds.

"We are very pleased to announce that the Navy Relief drive went over its quota in Richland county by $1,368," said Black. "I want to thank everyone who had anything to do with the drive, those who donated and those who worked."

Assuming $1,300 of the $6,300 quota, Shelby campaign workers, directed by Walter Van Horn, reached their goal early in the drive.

Black said that the funds collected would be used to aid the CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Arthur Louis Dellinger, 54, was killed early today by two Chicago policemen seeking to arrest him for allegedly slaying a man at Cincinnati last year.

Police reported that Detectives Fred Crowley and Raymond McCahill were sent to an apartment on the south side of Chicago in response to a tip that Dellinger would be found there.

Dellinger answered their ring and they told him they were police officers. The detectives said Dellinger reached for a gun and said: "The first man who comes in gets shot."

As he raised his gun, both Crowley and McCahill fired Dellinger was pronounced dead when his body was taken to Woodlawn hospital.

Course of War Hinges on Big Nazi Army Push

Battle of Egypt Becomes Waiting Game As Russians Quit Staryi Oskol And Enemy Masses 800 Tanks For Drive to Eastward.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—The Vichy news agency reported today that the Germans had captured Bobrov, 60 miles southeast of Voronezh, after crossing the Don river south of Voronezh.

(By Associated Press)

The future course of the war in Russia, or more immediately, success or failure for Germany's greatest drive this year, was being decided today on the banks of the upper Don with the enemy striving to exploit new river crossings where earlier bridgeheads had been crushed.

Germans and their allies, said the Nazi high command communique, are on the move in the whole area, with fast advancing formations in close pursuit of Russian troops said to be in disordered flight. Strong air forces were said to be hitting at the Russian columns by day and night.

On the other hand, the Berlin report added, Russian attacks to relieve the pressure along the Don were beaten down in four days of fierce fighting north and northwest of Orel.

The Germans also reported extensive fires at Murmansk, Russian arctic port, as a result of air attacks there, suggesting that Germany's claims this week of sweeping attacks against a large Russia-bound convoy were not so well founded and that planes were sent to Murmansk to attack the ships which the Russians reported arrived intact.

The battle of Egypt has become largely a waiting game with both the British and the Axis forces near El Alamein trying to hold present positions, pending reinforcements necessary for a major move.

The British reported, however, a continuation of their counter-offensive by air with more successful bomb assaults on Marshal Rommel's German-Italian forces and the Axis claimed that the defenders of the El Alamein gateway to the Nile had been driven from important positions.

There was little to relieve the THREAT: Jap Aleutian Bases Aim at Both U. S. and Russia

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—With distance from home bases and weather favoring the Japanese, naval experts asserted today that continued Nipponese occupation of the western Aleution islands constitutes a dual threat to Russia and the United States that should not be underestimated.

That American army and navy officials have been taking an increasingly serious view of the North Pacific situation was indicated by recent activity by U. S. bombers and submarines.

The latest navy communique disclosed that another enemy destroyer had been torpedoed and probably sunk off Kiska island on July 5. Previously the navy reported that on July 4 American submarines torpedoed four Jap destroyers in that area, sinking three and setting fire to a fourth.

Despite increased aerial and submarine counter-blows, however, the Nipponese apparently have not been shaken from the invaded U. S islands of Attu and Kiska, at the extreme end of the Aleutian chain.

Due to the fact that the Nipponese seemingly intend to maintain their invasion hold on American territory, naval analysts asserted that the enemy may move from there toward Russia's Kamchatka peninsula, toward U. S. bases closer to Alaska—or both.

So long as the Nipponese confine their activities to the Kiska area, naval men said their presence was not a serious menace to the Alaskan mainland, approximately 1,000 miles to the east. However, it was considered possible that the Japs may seek to expand toward Dutch Harbor.

Under cover of fog and generally hazy weather, the Nipponese apparently have been mov-

BOMBED: Nazi Naval Base Hit In Heavy British Air Attack

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Royal Air Force planes, attacking Germany in force for the first time in almost a week, last night blasted the Nazi North Sea naval base of Wilhelmshaven, the air ministery disclosed today.

The raid followed persistent bombings, including a 1,000-plane assault, on the large port and shipbuilding center of Bremen.

The attack was carried out by a strong force, it was said but the number of planes participating was not disclosed.

Four of the raiding planes failed to return, the air ministry said.

The Berlin radio broadcast an official German news agency dispatch stating that the Royal Air Force had attacked Wesermuende and Wilhelmshaven.

High explosives and incendiary bombs, the German radio said, "caused damage."

Wilhelmshaven and Wesermuende lie at the mouth of the Weser river where it empties into the North sea, 46 miles north of the large port of Bremen.

The Nazi admission that the assault had "caused damage" indicated that the raid probably was severe.

Bremen, second largest port in the reich, has been subjected to a series of heavy poundings by the RAF, including one of its gigantic assaults by more than 1,000 planes. The last raid on Bremen, and on Germany proper, was carried out six nights ago.

Wilhelmshaven is a German naval base. The harbor area has three large basins and seven of smaller dimensions. The ship building facilities at Wilhelmshaven are protected by strong fortifications.

Sheriff Ordered To Clamp Down On All Gambling

ELYRIA — (AP) — A Lorain county grand jury, reporting that out-of-county promoters are backing bingo games ordered Sheriff Carl R Finegan to clamp down on all gambling A jury statement asserted that under the sponsorship of "organized gambling rackets" bingo games "are expanding beyond the confines of religious and chartered fraternal organizations."

The grand jury's action was believed to have resulted from a complaint made by a witness who testified about the operation of a bingo game in Sheffield Lake, which allegedly was operated by Sheffield Lake officials purportedly to raise funds for civilian defense.

The jury delivered its order in person to the sheriff today by calling him before it.

The sheriff and all other law enforcement agencies in the county, meaning local officials, were ordered immediately to stop all bingo games and other forms of "organized gambling."

British Will Debate War Shipping Situation.

LONDON — (U.P.) — A house of commons debate on the shipping situation will be held in secret, Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the house, announced at the opening of today's session.

The debate is to be held on the third day of the next series of parliamentary sittings Cripps said in behalf of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

(Because of the war Britain does not announce specific days for such debates at which members of the government are concentrated along with their fellow members.)

"There will be a frank review of the shipping situation both from the viewpoint of losses and construction," Cripps said. He added that the shipping situation, though grave, would be surmounted.

Newark Gets Big U. S. Plant After Fredericktown Survey

An announcement by the federal government that a $22,000,000 aluminum bar and rod mill will be constructed near Newark in Licking county was interpreted today as meaning that Newark instead of a large tract of farm land near Fredericktown had been chosen as the site for the plant.

Federal engineers had been conducting extensive surveys in the area north of Fredericktown for several weeks for construction of a government project of an undisclosed nature.

The engineers left Fredericktown recently and it was believed in some quarters that the announcement today indicated that the Licking county site was given preference.

Announcement of the project was made by the war production board through Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district.

McGregor said that construction will begin immediately on a 50-acre tract of land near Heath, adding that he understood the unit probably will be of a permanent nature and will function after the war.

Production in the new aluminum plant which will be operated by the Aluminum Company of America is expected to get under way next spring. The new plant is to employ 3,000 workers.

TRAFFIC DROP PUTS CURB ON FINES IN COURT

Bond Forfeitures Down $400 in Auto Cases; Tire Problem Cited as Reason.

A sharp drop in the volume of traffic due to the war time tire problem and a consequent decline in the number of traffic violations in the Mansfield area were held responsible today for a drop of $400 in municipal court receipts for June as compared to those for May.

Municipal court records show that although the total number of court hearings for the month increased, traffic fines dropped and this was mostly responsible for the drop in revenue from $3,070 in May to $2,661 in June.

Bond forfeitures in traffic cases dropped from $693 in May to $890 in June, Marjorie J. Rhoads, deputy municipal court clerk, said. Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said that there was a noticable decline in traffic on highways running through Mansfield in June.

The city's share of municipal court receipts showed an increase, however, jumping from $1,905 to $1,943, but civil cases and other departments showed a total drop of $408.

Persons arraigned in municipal court paid a total of $847 in fines as compared to $815 in May. The city's share of state highway patrol fines was $214, a big increase over the $89.90 collected in May. Other forfeitures and costs for state cases brought in $498 in June as compared to $316 in May.

The civil department of the municipal court collected $320 in court costs in June. In May, it took in $481.

Payment to the state treasurer for costs on state cases was $123, almost $400 less than in May while state liquor fines dropped from $70 to $29. The state highway patrol was paid $214 while the Richland county sheriff department got $20.55 in fees and the state division of conservation received $10.

GREEKS DON'T HAVE WORDS FOR THIS TWO-RESTAURANT MIX-UP

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — The Greeks have no words to express the legal controversy that engulfs Demetrois Diakandru and Tom Petropulous, a couple of east side restaurateurs.

In fact, it's difficult to describe it in any language. In this story, Diakandru hereafter will be called Jim, and Petropulous will be known as Tom.

Jim and Tom dispensed "rust bif," "strumberry pie" and so forth on opposite corners for 22 years. They got on happily until last fall when each conceived the idea of a corner monopoly. So, each bought the other's property without the other's knowledge. Each served an eviction notice on the other.

Neither wanted to be evicted before the other. The case has been in court 14 times. Now, the lawyers are planning to take it to the supreme court.

An official of the bailiff's office thought he had a solution to the situation yesterday when he ordered both Greeks to move, each to trade location with the other.

This might have worked had it not been for another legal move.

All yesterday afternoon, counters, chairs, stools, stoves, pots, pans and food were moved in double traffic between the restaurants. By evening, Jim was where Tom had been, and vice versa.

Then, Tom's attorney served a stay of execution on the man from the bailiff's office. He posted $1,000 bond.

Jim ignored the new order and Tom called the police. The police told Jim he'd have to move back. There wasn't anything else to do.

Tom opened for business as usual in his old quarters today.

"I was never closed," he said. "I don't know what the hell happened. I guess one Greek is dumber than the other."

Jim sighed.

"What happened, you wouldn't have expected," he said. "Tom's lawyer gave us some kind of papers. I had to move back. This is awful. I don't know when I'll open."

GETS ORDER ON RAIL LINE'S NEW WAR-TIME RESERVATIONS

In order to increase the carrying capacity of trains as an aid to meeting heavy war time travel demands, the Pennsylvania railroad will hereafter sell by reservation seats in observation and lounge cars on all its trains, according to word received today by H. R. Hoovler, Pennsylvania freight and ticket agent here, from C. H. Mathews, jr., passenger traffic manager.

Mathews stated that seats on observation and lounge cars will be numbered and sold individually and will no longer be generally available to passengers holding seats elsewhere on the train.

The only exceptions will be the cafe sections, equipped with the tables and chairs. These facilities will continue to be utilized for the service of refreshments, Mathews said.

The new arrangement will apply both to Pullman cars operated on the railroad and to special coach trains such as the Trail Blazer and Jeffersonian.

Mathews added that in the case of all trains, the observation and lounge car seats will, so far as possible be assigned to short-trip riders, leaving other accommodations for the use of passengers making longer trips.

The gain will average from 12 to 25 seats in the case of each Pullman car and in the case of the long-distance all-coach trains, about 50 additional passengers can be accommodated on each train, Mathews stated.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1942.

Some people think that anything unprecedented has no right to happen.

Fortunately Elmer Davis, director of public information, is not unprejudiced. His wife says that he has a definite bias against Hitler.

It was Benjamin Franklin who told the colonists: "We must hang together or we shall hang separately"—and it may be doubted if the warning was any more needed then than now.

Move Toward Farm Betterment

SOIL CONSERVATION and other subjects associated with preservation and restoration of county, state and national agricultural resources, are of vital importance to every American.

This is becoming more evident as the war discloses the extent to which people of this country have been dependent on imports from other parts of the world and directs attention to the need of increasing farm production and guarding precious soil for present and future use.

Steps being taken by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce to co-operate with farmers in developing a state-wide soil and water conservation program indicate understanding that rural and urban interests are interlocking—with the well-being of each depending on the other.

With preliminary steps taken at a six-county area meeting held in Mansfield this week, the movement seems to be getting off to a good start, and the five-point program, as outlined by Brooks Burnside, agricultural agent of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, offers opportunity for immediate and continued action. The five points are: To assist established agencies in increasing production economically; to create a permanent improvement in agriculture; to bring about better farm economy for the individual, county and state; to maintain and improve a good social and economic status in rural communities, and to conserve Ohio soil and water.

Richland and vicinity counties are particularly well suited to experimental development of such plans for agricultural betterment and the progress of this movement will be watched with much interest.

Automobile Races Forbidden

ACTION by the office of defense transportation prohibiting automobile and motorcycle racing, for the duration of war, is a sensible part of the rubber conservation program. It is gratifying to note that this also includes the "midget" races, which had become a highly commercialized and dangerous Sunday sports event in many parts of the country.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the rubber shortage is really serious and it is also revealed that collection of rubber scrap will fall far short of least optimistic predictions.

Good judgment resulted in calling off this year's Memorial day auto race in Indianapolis and it is regrettable that the ban was not made effective in time to prevent some of the minor races and exhibitions that have already been held—as, for instance; the stunt performance that resulted in the death, a few days ago, of "Lucky" Teter, who might otherwise have been still alive and capable of performing some really worthwhile service.

No More Lecturers From England

ANNOUNCEMENT by the British minister of information that no more lecturers are to be sent to the United States from England, "to force Britain down the throats of the American people," will probably be regarded on this side of the Atlantic as a wise decision.

Not that more than a small percentage of Americans are "irreconcilably anti-British," as the minister of information puts it, but that Americans are pretty well fed up with their local output of propaganda, and have too many "lecturers" of their own, in the "$15 and expenses" bracket to justify augmenting the ranks by importation.

Time was, not so many years ago, when this country was over-run by lecturers from England, whose obvious purpose was to popularize British views, but, according to the minister of information: "They did so much more harm than any possible good that I thought they should stay home."

Good idea—at least to the extent of not sending over any lecturers who are not up to the Winston Churchill standard.

Men's 'Rights' In Post-War Era

NOW SOME of the viewers-with-alarm are beginning to worry about what shall be done with the women when this war emergency is over. Women have gone into so many unaccustomed lines of work, and have usually done so well what they have tackled, and are so steadily reaching out for new worlds to conquer, that naturally a lot of sensitive males are acquiring an acute case of consternation.

Doubtless there are real problems here. There are always problems where women are concerned. And it is disconcerting to look ahead and speculate on what the females are going to do about the males when normal life returns.

Safest guess, however, may be that normal life is not going to return. Women have been called "the great conservers," and whoever coined that expression was probably shrewder than he knew. They conserve everything they take hold of, and they take hold of more and more problems and perquisites, and whatever they annex seems to remain naturally in their jurisdiction. Thus the more a man ponders these things, the more he is likely just to go along quietly and hope for the best.

Another Complication Arises

WOULD you say "Sir" to a lady? Naturally not, but what if she is an officer? That is the weighty problem presented by the new women's army auxiliary corps. New bridegrooms have a problem of like importance: how address the new mother-in-law? Many of them solve the problem temporarily by the word, "Say." That obviously would not do for an army officer, man or woman.

It is reported that "Ma'am" is to be employed. Why not "Madam"? That sounds less colloquial. The Queen of England is so addressed; "Madam Chairman" is correct in a woman's club; why not thus address a woman lieutenant?

Some solution must be found, and quickly, for the new corps will soon be here.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

Creditors Fear Debt Cancellation

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

FIERCE as income taxation will be, beginning with the next fiscal year, it won't take all that its victims receive and then demand more, too.

It's true that there's talk of the governmental copping off 100 per cent of everything in excess of $25,000 annually, but even that wouldn't be 101 per cent or some such thing. The treasury itself recognizes that the whole thing is as much as it possibly can scoop in.

Very few folk care for the fate of recipients in the annual $25,000-plus classification, anyway. There aren't many of us whose stipends are that high. Quite a number of us, though, will be stuck on the basis of figures from $24,999 on down, and the incomes in such ratings as $3,500 or thereabout may be almost impossibly stung.

Out of, say $3,500, the average individual doubtless will be able to pay his tax and still be able to pay his grocery and fuel bills and perhaps keep himself and members of his family partially clothed by skimping on cigarets, soft drinks and other only semi-necessaries.

But that's on the supposition that he has no additional commitments, dating back into normal times, that he has to keep on meeting periodically or go totally broke.

Time Was When—

Now, it used to be considered pretty thrifty for the head of a family to buy, for example, a house and lot on the instalment plan. Running up current bills may have been indiscreet or overdone, but there are various things, like real estate and possibly a bit of furniture or a domestic auto that were generally regarded as legitimate investments, on credit. Such buyers weren't deemed spendthrifts. They reckoned up their obligations, including taxes, proved arithmetically that they were equal to 'em, and went confidently ahead.

Very well, take a person like that—

His private indebtedness is so-and-so much, honestly and judiciously incurred.

Then multiply his income tax by a couple or three times.

He's liable to be financially so swamped that he can't meet his personal bills. He simply won't have enough money to go around.

Federal Treasury Tax Adviser Randolph E. Paul has been looking into this matter. Based on his investigation is Randolph's memo (not a recommendation) to congress suggesting a moratorium on private indebtedness until taxation gets back to normalcy.

In other words, if the plan's adopted, personal bills won't be paid until after income taxes subside. Cash will be required in the meantime, but not on what's accumulated.

I can understand that it's an arrangement calculated to suit debtors admirably.

It evidently isn't warmly indorsed by the creditor group.

It isn't alone that the latter aggregation wants its money right now. It also figures that the proposed moratorium won't end when the war does—that it'll go on for almost everlasting subsequently. Those taxes won't quit in the present generation's time, or the next or the next, in all likelihood. Instead of a moratorium, the creditors see the scheme as a cancellation, to all intents and purposes, from their standpoint.

To Kill or Not to Kill

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THOSE eight saboteurs who came ashore from German submarines at Long Island and Florida and who, at this writing, are being given a military trial—military trial which, if they are convicted, can only mean death at the point of a gun—America's in a quandary about them.

There has been no such trial in America since that which followed the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. Shooting blindfolded men, somehow that goes against our American grain, although it is still practiced in certain of our states. Personally, I am allergic to gun killings. I've seen them happen. They're not nice. In fact, I think there should be a more intelligent answer to all crime than death. Capital punishment doesn't seem to have succeeded very well, in my private opinion. But here my desk is, piled with queries about those eight saboteurs—should or should they not be shot as spies?

There can be no question about their motives or culpability, all of which they have confessed. They were sent here from Germany to wreck American defense industries—to dynamite factories, bridges, mines and other military objectives. They have confessed this. The cache of dynamite which they brought has been found. The thousands of dollars of expense money have been discovered. In short these men came with the express purpose of wrecking America, killing Americans and crippling us so that our fight for freedom would be frustrated.

These are facts. The men themselves do not dispute them. What's the answer? Should or should not our military tribunal treat them as spies and traitors would be treated in any other of the warring countries? I don't know. I'm asking your opinion. And, as I do so, I'm thinking of Quentin Reynolds' latest and finest book on the war, "Only the Stars Are Neutral." There's a book which faces just such problems.

Years ago, when we were both assigned to the Hauptmann trial for the Lindbergh killing, I met Quentin Reynolds, as lovable, red-headed a Brooklyn Irishman as ever wheedled the heart out of you by a lazy smile and a knowing eye. Even then young Quentin was scooping the news on the East Coast. Since then he's been putting the bee on all Europe, Africa, Far East and way points with that same lazy smile but shrewd Irish intelligence.

Already he has written countless stories and several books, giving our insular and prejudiced American audience the lowdown on world events. And I personally can vouch for its accuracy, for Quentin isn't the kind of man who exaggerates, boasts or sermonizes. He doesn't need to. He has sufficient strength and color in himself to tell things as they actually are without distorting or taking sides. And in this latest book of his, Reynolds says:

"Had only the Low Countries and Poland and Norway and the other slave states eliminated their own traitors, how much happier their fate would have been. Perhaps some day we will dig up the Congressional Record and see there the voluntary evidence given by our own Fifth Column and find a prosecutor as ruthless and relentless as Vyshinsky. But we are pretty soft. If a man in our country rapes a woman he gets life. If he rapes our country he gets a lecture or radio contract. I sometimes wonder if we deserve the wonderful country we've got."

Well, they're facing just such a problem now, to kill or not to kill those who would rape America. You don't like killings! Neither do I. 'Tisn't Christian. Yet do you remember those fierce words which the gentle Christ spoke when he saw treason in the hearts about him:

"Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace but a sword. For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law. And a man's foes shall be they of his own household . . ."

To kill or not to kill, when all the go[illegible]e know is imperiled . . . . the answer? Frankly, I d[illegible] know. How do you vote?

Timely Editorial

Youth Is Called.

The young men in the 18 to 20 age group who were registered in the draft last week know of the World War I only as their fathers knew of the Civil war. Born either in the administration of President Harding or President Coolidge, they gave little attention to the national and world news until the administration of the present president of the United States. These youths grew up during a great depression period. Born after the close of the first World war they have been the victims of all of the economic dislocations caused by that struggle. Now they are being listed for possible call to military service.

In war and in peace, youth is being called upon to reshape the world along saner lines than have been traced in the events of the two decades that group has known.—Toledo Blade.

Leniency to Captured Traitors Endangers Many Loyal Citizens

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The remarkable achievements of American inventive genius since Pearl Harbor would electrify the people of the United Nations if they could be told. High army and navy officials are delighted with some of the new devices, though they are still waiting, and hoping, for something which will make the submarine impotent.

Meanwhile, however, the submarine danger has been attacked from another angle—to prevent the supplying of these vessels on this side of the Atlantic. There is no doubt whatever that this providing of Nazi U-boats with oil for their engines and other necessary supplies has been going on. That is why some of the roundups of the FBI have been so vitally important. But a lot of work remains to be done in this direction.

Incidentally there are those in the government who think that there is far too little blood and iron in this phase of the warfare, and far too much of an attitude on the part of prosecuting power that it is all right to dig up the cases, but no blood must be shed in the process—or indeed after the process.

FOR instance many of the fishing guides in Florida are talking about the capture of a man actually carrying supplies to a German submarine. The man alleged to have done this, the guides say, is in jail!

One of a group of guides talking about this affair turned to the writer and asked:

"How long do you think a German would be kept in a comfortable jail, well fed, and not even held up to public disgrace, much less manhandled, if he were caught supplying British commandos?"

The question answers itself both as to the Germans and the Japanese.

In this particular case the man caught was not unpopular with the men who were talking. On the contrary they had liked him. Their attitude toward him was one of surprise that he had been disloyal. But their chief reaction was one of anger that the government was so milk-toast-like in its dealings with this sort of thing.

Their attitude was that leniency in such cases might easily result in the death of a great many loyal Americans, risking their lives to move necessary cargos on the sea.

OFFICIALS point out that if the supplying of German submarines on this side of the Atlantic can be stopped entirely, the effectiveness of every submarine can be cut more than 50 per cent. It would be necessary then for the subs to make a very long, and perhaps dangerous trip back home to take on supplies.

Also, it is pointed out a submarine leaving Hamburg, or Kiel, could carry three or four times as many torpedoes, and shells, if the Germans knew in advance that the sub could depend on supplies of food and fuel somewhere near the scene of operations, assuming that scene is in the Western Atlantic.

Man About Manhattan

Winsome Wynn

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Theater note: We are reminded in the Playbill for Ed Wynn's new show, "Laugh, Town, Laugh," that back in 1934 a group of electors got together and agreed that the ten most charming people in the world were Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, Albert Einstein, Lady Astor, the Queen of Siam, the Prince of Wales, Emily Post, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Benito Mussolini, and Ed Wynn. . . . "There might conceivably be some changes made," the Playbill goes on, "if the same question were to be brought to a vote again today. But you could put your money on that tenth name keeping its place in the list, and it would be no gamble. To an army of fans, Ed Wynn remains one of the most charming people in the world."

I WILL go along with that. The big guy with the 30-year-old shoes, the 49 hats (which he wears every day), and the absurd inventions that he springs on his customers, has more real charm than a basket of kittens. This goes for off-stage as well as on. I have seen him giggle through 10 years of Broadway history, and I have seen him pace the floor of his apartment in New York spilling gags unconsciously in somber talk that would win bravos behind the footlights. He pulled a witticism the second night of "Laugh, Town, Laugh" that wasn't in the script, and the crowd roared so unexpectedly that Wynn ran to the edge of the orchestra pit, clapping his hands like a pleased, delighted child, and crying, "That isn't in the show. I just thought of it. I just made that up." The gag came about in this manner. Wynn was relating some experience, which, he said, would make your hair curl. "Of course it wouldn't make mine curl," he giggled in his high falsetto, removing his hat and showing a bald head. And then he added, "You'd think I'd been through a Hair Raid, wouldn't you?"

THIS WYNN show is pure Vaudeville, and all through it, "As the nimble mountain-goat leaps from crag to crag, so will he leap from act to act." These acts are exceptional. That's one of the wise and proved things about Ed Wynn. He surrounds himself always by magnificent people . . . There's Senor Wences of Portugal, who is far and away the most original ventriloquist I ever saw. . . . There's Carmen Amaya of Spain, with her passionate flamenco dances . . . There's Jane Froman of the U. S. A., and I never saw her more beautiful . . . There are the Volga Singers from Russia . . . and the thrill-aerialists, the Herzogs from Australia . . . There's the Hermanos Williams Trio from the Argentine, perhaps the most distinctive act of its kind in the theater . . . There's a whiz of a badminton contest by the world's greatests exhibitionists, Ken Davidson of England and Hugh Forgie of Canada . . . There is more, much more, and always, through it and under it and on top of it is Ed Wynn, who, as always, remains the Perfect Fool.

Critical Stage In Russian War As Nazis Battle For Oil Supply

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE on the Kursk-Kharkov front is developing into one of the most critical of the Russian war. Not only does the fate of the Caucasus oil fields depend on it, but if it succeeds, the supply problem of the rest of Russia will become acute.

Marshal Fedor von Bock, smashing through to the Don river, is seeking to cut off Marshal Timoshenko's army of the south from the army of the central front. Already, in driving to Voronezh he has succeeded in cutting the rail line from Moscow to Rostov. His next immediate objective probably is southward and eastward along the Don river to Stalingrad, big industrial city on the Volga.

His ultimate objective, American military men believe, is Astrakhan at the mouth of the Volga on the Caspian sea and from there down the coastal road to Baku. That would not only deprive Russia of her chief source of oil supply for her armies but would give Hitler the lubricants he must have. It would also throw the Allied supply route through Iran out of gear.

THE Don river drive most probably will be accompanied by one from Taganrog against Rostov and by one from the Crimea against Krasnodar and the northern Caucasian oil fields. From Rostov the Germans would have three choices: To drive due eastward towards Astrakhan; to deploy southward for an attempt to go down the Black sea coast to Batum, or to skirt the Caucasus mountains to reach the Caspian and Baku.

There meanwhile may be drives on the central and northern fronts threatening Moscow and Leningrad, which would effectively prevent large-scale reinforcements to Timoshenko.

Germany undoubtedly has the men for these vast operations. According to British figures, the Germans are using more than 1,000,000 men along a front of only about 120 miles in the Kursk-Kharkov region. They are using 67 divisions in the drive.

It is estimated that the Germans, with their Hungarian, Rumanian, Italian and other allies, had a total of 223 divisions available for the Russian campaign. Allowing for a probable loss of 15 divisions in the Crimea, that would leave 151 divisions in the line or in reserve, exclusive of the 67 divisions being used in the Don river drive.

Germany, it is believed, has about 100 divisions on other fronts or in reserve in the Reich. Some of these are in Libya and Egypt and undoubtedly more can and will be sent for Marshal Erwin Rommel, to renew his drive for the Suez canal.

Some American military men consider the British chances of holding Suez less than 50-50, that is, as possible rather than probable."

A Farmer's Diary

An Angry Farmer

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SUGAR rationing for canning is over in our village. One week only in the town hall—now each dilatory farmer will have to appear at headquarters in the county seat.

Five weeks ago I helped ration sugar in the grade school building. No harsh questions were asked, no conscientious objections registered. There was blind faith that the administrator who gave the order and spent millions for its execution did it for the best interests of the country.

I asked a sugar beet farmer from the northern part of our state how many beets he would raise this year. He looked at me in surprise. "Don't you know," he said, "that our acreage is cut, instead of increased? I figured, like you, that every beet farmer'd have to do his best to make good a shortage, but seems 'taint goin' to be that way . . . and down at the bank, in our town, I saw the reports of what the government has paid to growers for acres not planted in Colorado, Florida, Louisiana and—I believe 'twas Texas. It was a long list and some were paid as much as $150,000. I judge a good average paid to each company or grower was around $30,000. Why, those who received less than $10,000 weren't even mentioned . . . and everybody knows there's more little farmers than big ones.

"I wrote to my congressman, in disgust and told him how we all feel about such a crazy ruling. I wrote him if any of us farmers would refuse to raise a necessary crop in war time, we'd catch him and string 'im up for a d—— nuisance.

"It seems as if the government oughta keep faith with the best class of people, instead of angering everybody and shattering the public confidence, just now, by lack of judgment. More fruit has gone to waste around our section than I've ever seen. Many women stood in line a half day and went home disgusted. My wife came home madder'n a wet hen and said, 'What's the use? I won't can anything that takes sugar.'

"All I say is, if they made an honest mistake, why don't they admit it and if there's a skunk in the woodpile, let's smoke him out . . . huh?"

CRUCIAL BATTLE RAGES ON BANKS OF RIVER DON

gravity of the situation in Russia. The Germans were reported to have massed 800 tanks on the west bank of the upper Don where, with the benefit of quantitative superiority, they sent light armored units, automatic infantry and shock troops across to new landing points on the east bank.

The Red army's strategic withdrawal from Staryi Oskol, 65 miles southwest of Voronezh, had widened the German salient toward Voronezh, giving the Germans a triangular corridor pointed against the Don and based on a 160-mile line through Belgorod, Kursk and Orel.

The Germans have massed a tremendous force in the attempt to smash across the Don and into Voronezh and to sever the north-south railway linking Russia's central and southern armies.

There was slim comfort in Russia's apparently well-founded denials of Berlin's earlier claims that Voronezh had been captured and the campaign carried on to the east.

The German high command credited one of its motor torpedo-boat flotillas with sinking six merchant ships totaling 19,000 tons, including tankers, in an attack on a convoy off the English coast.

With the Axis claiming without details that "some important positions" had been won in Egyptian land fighting and the British reporting only a minor night raid, the major phases of that conflict apparently were being fought in the air.

British fighter-bombers smashed at Axis vehicles and landing grounds throughout yesterday despite dust storms. Eight Axis planes were downed, others were attacked aground and the loss of six British planes was acknowledged.

At Malta, six Axis planes were destroyed in continuing day and night raids, the British said. The Axis acknowledged one lost, claimed 10 British planes destroyed and added that two Allied submarines had been sunk by an Italian destroyer.

British Slash Axis On Mediterranean

CAIRO — (U.P.) — British empire patrols destroyed numerous German guns, killed some of the enemy and took prisoners in a successful night raid on the Alamein front, a Middle Eastern command communique said today.

Royal Air Force planes, extending their offensive more than 950 miles from their nearest land bases, attacked the big Axis base at Messina, Sicily, just across from the Italian mainland, and started a large fire, it was revealed.

Fighting patrols of tanks, guns and motorized infantry harassed the enemy all day yesterday on the front before El Alamein, the communique said, especially at the southern end of the line.

Fighter-bomber planes made another big attack yesterday on the enemy landing ground at El Daba, 30 miles west of El Alamein, and scored direct hits on refueling enemy planes.

Enemy vehicles were attacked and forced to disperse.

Claim British Fall Back At El Alamein

BERLIN (From German Broadcast) —(AP)— The high command reported today that the British had been forced to retreat by an Axis local attack "in the southern part of the El Alamein position" in Egypt. (Its communique devoted only that single sentence to the battle for Egypt.)

Red Bombers Smash Nazi Pontoon Bridge

MOSCOW — (INS) — Pounding relentlessly at German forces attempting to cross the strategic Don river, huge Soviet Stormovik bombers smashed a pontoon bridge thrown across the important waterway and killed hundreds of Germans, the Moscow radio said today.

Russian troops also were said to have launched a counter-attack on the Don river front which wiped out a German battalion and resulted in the recapture of two villages.

Red Star, the army newspaper, said that the greatest plane and tank battles of the war were raging in full intensity west of Voronezh. The Germans, apparently, were calling on their reserve of land battleships as they threw in more than a thousand tanks. Each tank, according to the newspaper account, was protected by a plane.

Loading Scrap Rubber Collected In Drive

Scrap rubber collected by Standard oil stations in Richland and nearby counties moved yesterday and today to Akron for conversion, after being loaded into freight cars at the company's division plant, Miller street. Four cars, loaded with 168,200 pounds of tires were shipped from here yesterday, according to the office of J. B. Coleman, division manager, and publicity chairman of the county scrap rubber collection drive. Two more cars, loaded with other types of scrap rubber, were being loaded today. Top picture shows workmen taking tires into the cars. Bottom picture shows Coleman beside some of the tires and other scrap collected by Standard stations.

concerning the new rationing setup, Bailey issued a detailed explanation designed to clear up the confusion that had developed concerning the two-pound sugar "bonus" which will be granted in July and August.

The bonus will come automatically to household consumers without applying to their local rationing board, said Bailey. The bonus will be paid on stamp No. 7 in the consumer's ration book.

Between July 10 and Aug. 22 consumers will be able to get a total of six pounds for each member of the family instead of four. These are the dates on which the respective stamps are good:

Stamp No. 5, for two pounds, June 28-July 25.

Stamp No. 6, for two pounds, July 26-Aug. 22.

Stamp No. 7, for two pounds, July 10—Aug. 22.

The No. 7 stamp will be good for 16 days before stamp No. 6 becomes valid. During the July 10-July 25 period, both No. 5 and No. 7 are valid. Between July 26 and Aug. 22, both No. 6 and No. 7 are valid.

Extra sugar also will be available to industrial and institutional users. Their increase is for months of July and August. The bonus certificates, however, will not be available to them until Aug. 15.

Free French Receive Full Naval Military Recognition of U. S.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States today extended full naval and military recognition of the Free French movement by appointing Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte as American representatives to Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Free French national committee in London.

The American government also promised "all possible military assistance and support to the French national committee as a symbol of French resistance in general against the Axis powers."

lease of "statements from time to time on progress of the trial."

McCoy declined to see Paynter who waited for some time after sending word in to McCoy's office that he was there. After sending in word of his desire to see McCoy a second time, McCoy was said to have sent back a note reading:

"The gentleman need not wait. Te general will not see the gentleman."

In view of the failure of OWI officials to persuade the military commission to make announcements about the progress of the trial, it appeared likely that nothing would be made public until President Roosevelt announces the verdict of the commission and the sentence.

Among the witnesses apparently heard yesterday by the seven army generals who hold the power of life and death over the accused were several Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, the ex-fiance of Herbert Haupt, one of the accused, and four coast guardsmen, including three officers.

Mrs. Gerda Melind, 24, pretty brunet who was brought here from Chicago, was seen coming and going from the barricaded section of the justice department building in which the trial is being held. She was accompanied by a military guard at all times. She called off her engagement to Haupt after his arrest.

FBI Rounds Up 84 More Bundists

NEW YORK — (AP) — Fast-moving FBI agents bent on wiping out the German-American Bund rounded up 84 additional members in the metropolitan area last night for a total of 113 Bundist arrests throughout the nation in two days.

The new prisoners were seized as dangerous enemy aliens and were removed to Ellis Island to await hearings by alien enemy boards that could result in internment for the war's duration.

Meanwhile some of the original 29 indicted Tuesday on charges ranging from espionage to evasion of the selective service and alien registration acts were arraigned and held in bail as high as $50,000. Pleas of innocent were entered by all but one of those heard yesterday.

Among those pleading innocent was Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, former national Bund leader, who was captured in Mexico and now is held at Hartford, Conn., under $50,000 bail on a charge of espionage. Also held at Hartford in $7,500 bail was Wilbur V. Keegan, former Bund counsel.

The indictments against Keegan and 25 of the 28 others arrested Tuesday charge conspiracy to evade the selective service act, conspiracy to counsel Bund members to resist service in the U. S. armed forces or conspiracy to conceal Bund membership in registering as aliens.

families of members of the Navy, Marines or Coast Guard who are injured or lost. The drive chairman stressed that the campaign is not to be repeated annually but that the amount raised in the drive is to be used for the duration.

The Navy Relief society has been taking care of the Navy's dependents since 1820, according to Black, but the sudden sharp increase in the calls for aid prompted by injuries received in the Pearl Harbor attack made it necessary to conduct a Navy Relief drive to help the society.

Black's committee did not make a house-to-house canvass for funds but contacted business and professional men who gave contributions to the campaign.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—U. S. Judge Mell G. Underwood yesterday sentenced Merle Franklin Dupler, 33, of Rockbridge, Hocking county, to three years in a federal penitentiary for failure to notify his draft board of a change of address and Elza Bennett of Athens to five years for failing to report for induction.

TORPEDOING OF TIRPITZ BLASTS GERMAN SEA BID

Battleship Hides Out After Attack By Russian Sub on Convoy Route.

tion altogether, were inflated by something in the neighborhood of 175 per cent.

In the minds of British officials, there is no question that Hitler is chagrined by his failure thus far to throttle the flow of United Nations supplies to Soviet Russia and is unfuriated over the Luftwaffe's inability to destroy Murmansk.

German land-based planes operating from Finland have pounded this Russian arctic base incessantly. The installations at Murmansk admittedly have taken a heavy pounding. But Russian anti-aircraft and fighter interception have combined to spare the vital port any large-scale damage and latest reports from there said "business as usual."

Meanwhile, a widespread search was under way for the Taipitz despite general belief the giant craft —estimated by some observers to displace 50,000 tons instead of the 35,000 with which she is officially credited—had made safe haven somewhere in Norwegian waters.

Moscow announced in its regular midnight communique that the Admiral Von Tripitz, officially designated as a 35,000-ton battleship but believed actually to be somewhat more than 40,000 tons, had been hit by two torpedoes in the Barents sea.

The communique lacked details as to the time the Soviet submarine attacked the Tirpitz and the circumstances under which it was torpedoed but subsequent reports indicated that the huge dreadnaught was part of strong German naval force which sought to attack a British-American convoy bound for a Russian port.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said that the Tirpitz, known to have been based recently in the Norwegian port of Trondheim, was accompanied by three heavy cruisers and eight destroyers.

The convoy, the Soviet newspaper Pravda said, reached its goal in Russia safely. Berlin yesterday and Tuesday issued official announcements from Hitler's headquarters claiming most of the vessels in the convoy had been sunk.

The entirely unsubstantiated German claims said that 32 of 38 vessels, escorted by battleships, cruisers, destroyers and corvettes had been sunk. The Nazis asserted also that an American heavy cruiser had been sent to the bottom.

Presence of the large German naval force in the Barents sea off the northwest coast of Russia would be in line with Nazi reports that the convoy had been attacked by both warships and bombing planes, but with regard to the claims of the number of ships it was pointed out that when the Germans previously announced a huge success against another Allied convoy the losses were exaggerated by 175 per cent.

The naval expert of the Daily Express, commenting on the torpedoeing of the Tirpitz, sister-ship of the Bismarck which the British sank in May, 1941, said that Allied naval and air fleets must now be involved in "inevitable fighting" to prevent the damaged Tirpitz from reaching its base at Aalfiord, near Trondheim.

The Daily Express writer, as well as Pravda, said that the Tirpitz and the other Nazi warships undoubtedly set out to join in the attack on the British-American convoy headed for Murmansk with war materials for Russia.

Pravda indicated, however, that the Tirpitz and other ships had already taken refuge in the Norwegian fjord from which they sallied forth to attack the convoy.

Should this be true, counter-action by British and American forces would take the form of seeking out the German warships in their hideaway since it would be too late for pursuit from the scene where the Soviet submarine blasted the Tirpitz.

Pravda said the torpedoes were sent into the Tirpitz by a submarine under command of Commander Lunin which previously sank a big German transport with a single torpedo.

Last March the Tirpitbz, reputed to be one of the most powerful battleships afloat, was blasted from the air by torpedoes from British planes when she was discovered in Norwegian coastal waters.

Nazis Deny Attack On Big Battleship

BERLIN (from German Broadcasts) —(AP)— The high command denied today the Russian report that Germany's biggest battleship, the Admiral von Tirpitz, had been attacked and damaged.

The high command's daily communique was concluded thus:

"The Soviet assertion that the German battleship Tirpitz had been hit by a torpedo is purely invented. The battleship has neither been hit nor damaged."

Nazis Claim Six Merchantmen Sunk

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) — (AP) — A German motor torpedo boat flotilla has sunk six merchant ships totaling 19,000 tons, including tankers, from a convoy off the English coast, the high command said today.

The German craft were said to have "carried out their attack in the face of the British escort."

The petition claimed that in the past three months the defendant had not been at home more than a few days at a time and "that a portion of his absence from home has been due to his association and attention and improper relationships with other women upon whom he has lavished his time, money and affections."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CARY GRANT, BARBARA HUTTON HAVE ONE-NIGHT HONEYMOON

(By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD—Cary Grant turned from the arms of his bride, Barbara Hutton, today to those of Ginger Rogers in a film concerning a troublous honeymoon.

Troublous is correct. Grant will be on his make-believe honeymoon under the arcs until the end of next month. Then he expects to go into the army, without ever having a honeymoon with Miss Hutton, the girl who inherited $40,000,000. He married her yesterday at Lake Arrowhead, spent last night with her at a locale unknown to their friends, and returned to movie acting this morning at sun-up.

The marriage itself took five minutes under an oak tree at the shore of the lake, on the lawn of the cottage of Frank Vincent, Grant's manager, who served as best man. Mrs. Madeline Hazeltine, wife of the sculptor, Herbert Hazeltine, was matron of honor. Rev. H. Paul Romeis, Lutheran minister at nearby San Bernardino, performed the ceremony.

Grant, a newly naturalized citizen, and his wife, who still has not got her citizenship back after her marriage to a Danish count, will live in Brentwood, a Hollywood suburban colony populated largely by movie stars.

Miss Hutton, who spent part of her $40,000,000 marrying Prince Alexis of the "Marrying Mdivanis," divorcing him, marrying Count Kurt Von Haugwitz-Reventlow, and divorcing him, has been the object of Grant's affections, he said, for two years and two months.

The new Mrs. Grant — right name, Mrs. Archibald Leach—is 30. Leach, the British acrobat who changed his name to Grant when he became a movie star, is listed in the official biographies as being 33.

He was married briefly in 1935 to Virginia Cherrill, a leading lady for Charlie Chaplin.

SUBSCRIBERS ASKED TO CUT PHONE CALLS

Ohio Bell Urges Users To Limit Long Distance Messages.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The Ohio Bell Telephone company today asked subscribers to eliminate all unessential long distance calls to key war centers outside the state, especially to the Nation's capital.

F. P. Merrick, the utility's division commercial manager, explained "this applies particularly to calls to Washington, D. C., and we are requesting subscribers to refrain from calling that city unless the reason for the call is connected with war production or military activities or involving cases of emergency.

"Even calls connected with the war should be restricted to those which are absolutely essential We are also asking public co-operation in reducing the number of local calls and making the conversation brief."

Ohio Bell's action followed Washington reports that rationing of long distance calls might be necessary eventually to keep communcation lines open for military and other vital government activities. A spokesman said the concern is planning advertisements in all Ohio newspapers, and spot announcements over all state radio stations in an effort to gain full co-operation.

Merrick suggested when a situation arises that is sufficiently important to warrant using long distance service, an effort should be made to avoid "peak hours." The suggested calling times are noon to 2 p. m., 5 to 7 p. m., and 9 p. m. to 9 a. m. week days.

"The nation's telephone lines, especially long distance, are carrying a load which has never been approached," Merrick declared.

"Most of this traffic is directly connected with promation of the war effort, either on the part of military establishments, government agencies, or business and industrial establishments engaged in war production work. It is vitally necessary that their telephone calls go through without delay."

THEATERS

Sergeant Alvin C. York's heroic exploits during the thrilling days of World war I are re-created in Gary Cooper's starring vehicle, "Sergeant York," continuing through Friday at the Ohio. These encounters which include York's capture, almost single-handed, of 132 Germans, are preceded by the homely scenes depicting the Tennessee mountaineer's life before the war. Joan Leslie, Margaret Wycherly and Dickie Moore are in the cast.

Paris today under the heel of the Nazi gestapo is stirringly depicted in the current Madison attraction, "Joan of Paris," co-starring Michele Morgan, French star, and Paul Henreid, who played in "Night Train." The story concerns the desperate attempt of five young RAF fliers, shot down in occupied France, to outwit the gestapo and return to England. Miss Morgan plays the French barmaid who gives her life to aid them. Diana Jeanne Schultz, Mansfield starlet, appears under the name of Patty Hale in the co-feature, "I Was Framed."

Two gay members of royalty find themselves much in demand as professional guests as long as they are single but face a different story when they marry in the Ritz attraction, "We Were Dancing," co-starring Norma Shearer and Melvyn Douglas. The impoverished bride's plan to recoup a fortune through marriage to a wealthy lawyer brings Lee Bowman into the picture in the role of the attorney. Reginald Owen and Marjorie Main are also featured. "Father Steps Out," with Jed Prouty is the co-attraction.

A civic-minded westerner tries to lift his native community out of the doldrums by attracting financial backing for a gold mine in Roy Rogers' picture, "South of Santa Fe," showing at the Park. He unwittingly attracts the attention of an eastern gang that prepares to out-smart him. Judy Clark and Bobby Beers are among the players. "The Yukon Patrol," the second-picture, is a Zane Grey story with Robert Kellard and Allan Lane.

DELAY AWARDS

Officials Seek Certification on Highway Contracts.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Award of highway contracts which were bid on Tuesday will be postponed for 10 days, pending receipt of certification from the national public roads administration on use of materials, Assistant Highway Director Glenn Logue announced today.

A recent order that all construction work involving bituminous and tar materials is to be curtailed except for projects approved by the public roads administration necessitated the delay.

If certification has not come by the end of the 10 days, contracts will be awarded contingent on their being properly certified, Logue added.

URGES VITAMIN VEGETABLES

BERKELEY, Cal. — (U.P.) — Victory gardens, if they are to justify their name, should grow only those vegetables richest in vitamins, according to Harry M. Butterfield of the University of California agricultural service. He recommends green leafy vegetables and the yellow or orange root crops like carrots, spinach, lettuce, broccoli, tomatoes and onions.

It takes 71 railroad trains, each with a minimum of 20 cars, to move an army division of 15,000 men with weapons and equipment.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Katharine took her fingers from my pulse and looked at me searchingly.

"Your pulse is normal," she said. "just what happened? Plain dizziness, or did you feel faint?"

"Just a sudden awful dizziness," I said, mentally twiddling my fingers, to a ghostly Sapphira; "I didn't feel faint."

"Plain overdoing," she said, going toward the door, "and I'll order you up that medicine at once."

"Would you mind closing the door?" I asked faintly, adding in the best hypochondriac manner, "I feel as if I couldn't bear even hearing you talk over the telephone."

"Surely," she said indulgently, and although I couldn't see her eyebrows, I was sure they were raised. Then I dashed silently to the camouflaged door leading to the other suite and knocked lightly. I knew that Katharine, while telephoning, could not hear me, and opened the door without waiting for the man Adams to answer my knock.

"Please get hold of my father at once," I said, "and tell him it is vitally necessary that he come over to the suite as soon as he possibly can. I think my husband is with his. If he is, tell him to come too.

"No, I am in no danger," I said as he was about to speak; "no one but a woman relative is in my apartment with me. But do get them here quickly, and close this door very softly after me."

I sped back, dived into my bed and closed my eyes just before Katharine opened the door and hurried to my bedside.

"They will send up the drug right away," she said. "And now, Madge, where can I get a nurse for you? You know that in any other circumstances, I would not leave you, don't you? But although you are not seriously ill, you ought not to be alone here, and I simply cannot stay any longer than necessary. I must start my search for Jack as soon as possible."

"I don't want or need a nurse," I said with purposeful pettishness. "Dicky is scheduled to come back any minute. When he comes, it won't be necessary to have anyone else here. If you can stay until he gets here, that will be sufficient."

"Of course I'll do that," she assented, then her eyes flashed as we heard the outside door of the living room opening.

"There's Dicky now, I fancy," she said, and the next second we heard my husband's voice:

"Not here, Dad," he said, and a wave of relief went over me. Katharine's problem was now off my shoulders.

"Tell them I'm in here," I said in a low voice to Katharine, "and ask them to come in. But please stay with me too, for just a minute or two."

"I wonder," she said cryptically, but she went to the door and spoke to my father and Dicky.

"Madge is in here," she said. "She's not ill, but she had a dizzy spell."

Explains It All.

Both men uttered the name "Katharine!" in tones that spelled great astonishment, but at once rushed to the bedroom. But I had risen before their entrance, and springing to Katharine's side I put my arms tightly around her.

"Forgive me, Katrina," I pleaded. "I had to do this. Please don't speak until I finish."

She stood rigidly so silent that I knew I had grievously offended her. But she did not tear herself away from my embrace, and I spoke swiftly and with emphasis.

"Katharine arrived a few minutes ago. She has a letter from Jack summoning her to his aid, but not giving her any address, the letter trailing off at the end incoherently.

"She believes Jack fell unconscious and was taken to some hospital, and she is determined to search the hospitals tonight, beginning at once.

"Although she says the letter is in Jack's handwriting, I have an intuition that it is a forgery, and is part of a plot to get hold of her. Therefore I pretended to be ill, and had you two come over here."

"The Authority on Authorities"

CREDIT FOR BAD WORK

Many a declarer takes credit for playing a hand well, when he really botched the job and would have been set if his opponents had been on their toes. An observant kibitzer can make himself very unwelcome by pointing out at the time how both side had erred—how the defenders could have beaten the contract by proper play, and how the declarer could have played the hand so they would not have had any chance to beat him. His job is to be silent.

North led the diamond 2, the declarer taking the trick with the Q in dummy, so he could lead at once toward the club Q. North captured this with the K and repeated diamonds, the K winning. The club 10 was led to the A and the rest of the suit run. Those five club tricks, plus three in diamonds and two in hearts, made an extra trick for the declarer.

Notice what would have happened if North had refused to put his K on the first club trick, and then had let the club 10 go by when it was led to the A. That would have blocked the suit, and the declarer would have had no earthly way to take as many as nine tricks then.

The contract could have been made airtight by winning the first diamond in the West hand, then leading the club Q; if North covered, come up with the A and lead another club; if North ducked, let the Q ride through, then take the A and lead another club. With the diamond Q left in dummy for an entry, there would be no possible way to keep the declarer from making his contract, even if the opponents switched to spades at just the right time, as soon as they won a trick.

Here's a sensible way
TO GET OUT OF DEBT

You may wonder how you can get out of debt now, when you haven't been able to before. The answer lies in getting a cash loan from Personal.

With this money you'll be able to pay off your debts at once. Then you repay Personal in monthly amounts you can afford.

This doesn't put you deeper into debt. It simply adjusts to a cash basis the debts you already have.

Personal makes loans on signature, furniture, or auto, to men and women, single or married, employed on either a new job or an old one. Sensible monthly payments.

$10.05 a month repays a $100 loan in 12 months.

We don't believe that folks should borrow unless a loan is the best solution to their problem. If it is, and you need $10 to $250 or more, come in or phone.

Richland county motorists were urged with the rest of the drivers in the state today to "keep a record of the serial number of your use tax stamp and protect the stamp as a thing of value."

Harry F. Busey, U. S. internal revenue collector, in sounding the note of warning said that loss of a stamp should be reported immediately to the internal revenue office.

Approximately 12,600 use tax stamps for the fiscal year, 1942-43, had been sold today by the Mansfield postoffice.

The sale exceeded anticipated returns and an order for 1,500 more stamps were placed when the demand indicated the initial 12,000 would soon be sold out.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Glamour factory at war:

What's happened to Victor McLaglen's "private army" since the war?

It's still around, says Vic, and functioning—what there is left of it.

Vic's "army" was formed several years ago by the big, surly actor who, once a soldier himself never got over loving parades. McLaglen sank $150,000 into a clubhouse and grounds and the promotion of sports and parades. There was never a patriotic procession, in his army's heyday, that didn't have one or more units of the McLaglen "Lighthorse" gang in line—with big Vic usually leading the column. There were men and women members, with cavalry, motorcycle corps, marksmanship teams, all sorts of strenuous activities.

Coons

There was so much of it that once, in the pre-war era of confusion when a lot of people were calling a lot of other people Communists, or Fascists or both, big Vic had to hear whispers that he was up to no good with his "army" "It's sport," muttered Vic when he heard about it. "It's healthy, it's clean, it's good."

And the Lighthorse kept right on. Came the war, and there seemed to be a point to it after all—a point besides the love of parades.

"Almost all our younger men are in the service now," says Vic. "I don't know exactly how many, but the remaining ranks are pretty thin. What's left are the older ones and the men with dependents We carry on after a fashion, and we're thinking of offering ourselves to the governor as a state militia unit."

Between pictures, McLaglen spends most of his time on his ranch where, this year, on his output of pigs, grapes and figs he expects to gross $35,000—a tidy reward for a "Victory Garden."

McLaglen is in "China Girl," war - backgrounded, at present and wants to do more war pictures Even professionally, he loves a parade and playing soldier.

Hollywood, after seven months of war, is a strikingly different community, and I believe even that some of the confusion has gone from it under stress of war conditions. There is some confusion over details, there is none whatever over purpose And from this corner it seems that our town's nerves have been quieted by finding jobs, and many jobs, to do.

During the days of the fall of France, Hollywood could easily have rated tops in hysteria Today, with the U. S actually at war and the Pacific coast a possible war theater, the town keeps working along.

Along with its special war assignments and industrial war worries, Hollywood takes a full part in civilian defense activities, in canteen work and knitting, in first aid, in bond drives and service campaigns—just like your own home town.

This alone could be the cue for a big emotional scene—but I'm afraid our town's too darned busy with a job.

FDR LIMITS HIS PARTICIPATION IN POLITICS

Reserves Right to Dabble In New York, Refuses to Take Sides Elsewhere.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt, while reserving the right to dabble an experienced finger in politics in his own state, was reported today to have resisted firmly efforts of numerous politicians to get him to take sides in feuds elsewhere.

He himself has remarked that this is war and politics are out. And one individual with access to accurate information asserted that the president had lived up to that declaration so far, although he has had many a bid for political assistance from members of congress who feel uneasy over their chances for re-election in November. A presidential pat on the back conceivably could make a considerable difference in their fortunes.

Persons closely associated with the chief executive, who preter to remain anonymous, say they are convinced there will be no 1942 version of the 1938 "purge," in which the president campaigned against Democrats he considered too conservative.

This year, of course, there could be only one major issue—support of the administration's foreign policy. And since Pearl Harbor there have been few legislators who have raised their voices against that policy.

The present intention of the president apparently is to take no active part in any campaign to unseat pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists—again with a possible exception in New York state, where he maintains his permanent voting residence.

Mr. Roosevelt has taken public notice only once of the isolationist issue. That was last February when he told a press conference that when the country is at war, we want congressmen, regardless of party, who would have a record of backing up the government in an emergency

He was commenting on a speech in which Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, said it would be the equivalent of a major military disaster if the Democrats lost control of congress.

The pre-war critic of foreign policy who appears most likely to encounter presidential opposition is Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.), who represents Mr. Roosevelt's own congressional district, and is a veteran of 22 years in congress

Rubber Collection in County Reaches 450,000 Pounds.

Richland county's scrap rubber collection went past the 450,000-pound mark today, C. L Hartenfels, county scrap collection chairman, announced.

Collections yesterday totaled 25,640 pounds, bringing the total collected to date to 452,840 pounds. The goal set by the committee is 588,000 pounds—eight pounds for every individual in the county.

Hartenfels expressed the hope that residents of the county will turn in enough scrap articles in the two remaining days, before the campaign closes Friday evening, to carry the county's total to the quota.

FINED, JAILED IN TIRE THEFTS

Findlay Youths Get 15 Days and Fines of $100 Each.

BUCYRUS—Charged with the theft of an automobile tire, the first to come before local authorities since tire rationing became effective, two Findlay youths, Walter Hyma, 18, and Paul Schlosser, 20, were fined $100 each and given sentences of 15 days in the county jail by Justice of Peace O. K. Bender yesterday.

The youths confessed to the theft of the tire and wheel from the trailer belonging to Clarence Johnson of Detroit. The trailer was parked eight miles east of Bucyrus while the driver went to Galion for repairs.

LAW UPHELD BY TWO VOTES

Quirk of Constitution Keeps 'Open Container' Ruling on Ohio Books.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—By a quirk of the Ohio constitution two supreme court judges yesterday held a section of the state liquor law valid, though four judges termed it unconstitutional.

As a result of the decision, Joseph Chester must stand trial in the East Cleveland municipal court on a charge of bringing an opened whisky bottle onto the premises of a state permit holder.

The municipal court had dismissed the charge on grounds the law was unconstitutional in that it was not specific in declaring the bottle must contain liquor. The law merely says an "opened container."

Chester contended that a person would be guilty under the law if he brought an opened milk bottle onto the premises. The Cuyahoga county appellate court reversed the municipal court and held the law valid.

The supreme court today affirmed the appellate court by the two to four decision. The constitution provides that to have reversed the appellate court six judges would have had to concur.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant and Judge Roy H. Williams held that the law was valid, while Judges Edward C. Turner, Edward S Mathias, W. L. Hart and Charles B. Zimmerman voted the section was unconstitutional. Judge Gilbert Bettman did not participate.

The tribunal also upheld a state tax department ruling that slot machines are taxable as personal property.

NOT SAME MAN

Amnesia Victim at Galion Not Missing Louisville Resident.

A theory advanced by Maysville, Ky., officials that an amnesia victim being held at Galion might be John McElroy Cochran, a Maysville insurance broker missing from his home since Saturday, apparently failed to materialize today.

Crawford county officials said they doubted that an unidentified man taken off a Big Four train Tuesday morning at Galion, after refusing to give a ticket, or his name or address, was the missing broker. They pointed out that the man they held was enroute from Cleveland and said that efforts were being made to identify him through fingerprints.

Cochran, son of the late Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran, and Kentucky state commander of the Knights Templar, has been missing since he left home to go to a barber shop Officials were also checking a report that he might have gone to Louisville, Ky.

Laff-a-Day

"If you want anything, just groan!"

Although it was planned to use white paint for curbstone markings to aid Mansfielders during black-outs, Traffic Commissioner Frend C Boals has finally abandoned the idea He said that tests made with white paint show that it is not as distinguishable as orange paint which has been used for several years. The traffic commissioner has ordered city painters to go ahead with the use of orange paint

Edward DeWitt, 14-year-old News-Journal carrier boy, is hoping someone found, and will return to him, a manila envelope containing nearly $15 worth of war savings stamps. He had just obtained the supply of stamps to deliver to his route customers Saturday morning and started walking up Walnut street from The News-Journal. Somewhere on Walnut, between Fourth and Park avenue, he lost the envelope. It had no name on it. The envelope contained exactly $14.90 worth of stamps, Edward said.

Charles Anglin, bookkeeper for the city's waterworks department, was startled this morning while on the way to work to see "a man floating through the air" He quickly reassured himself, however, that the man was not traveling under his own power What Anglin hadn't seen was that the man had been riding a bicycle and while bending over to adjust a pedal he struck the rear of a parked automobile. The rider was thrown from the bike, propelled through the air and shot into Anglin's view from behind the parked car. The only damages were to the rider's dignity and to Anglin's composure.

There's some of the aspects of "old home week" about Hidden Hollow camp this week. Among the 40 boys and girls enrolled for the seven-day period are five-members of one family including twin sisters, three sets of brothers and sisters and six sets of cousins four from one family tree. And the best part of it is, according to R. E. Gimbel, director, "they all get along beautifully together."

20 INJURED WHEN 2 CARS TELESCOPE

Volunteer Rescuer Tells of Passengers Jammed Between Seats at Tragedy Scene.

NORRISTOWN, Pa — Twenty-three persons, many of them in critical condition, lay in hospitals today as the aftermath of a tragedy in which ten others were killed when a jammed highspeed suburban trolley collided head-on with a freight trolley at Washington Square Gardens, four miles north of Norristown.

The heavy freight car smashed nearly half-way through the Allentown-bound passenger trolley—the Liberty Bell limited—loaded with war workers from Philadelphia plants. The passenger car was rounding a curve when the freight, speeding downgrade, plowed into it, crushing the victims in their seats, at 5 40 yesterday afternoon.

Two ambulances shuttled back and forth between Norristown and the scene of the accident for more than an hour before all the casualties had been conveyed to Montgomery and Sacred Heart hospitals, both in Norristown.

Spurred by the agonizing cries of the victims, volunteer workers and motorists extricated the dead, dying and injured from the telescoped cars. Acetylene torches were used to cut several of the victims from the wreckage. One of the first volunteer workers to reach the scene, Paul Stoudtof Skippack, said:

"The seats had all been jammed back against their legs and they were wedged so tightly that he had to pull and tug before we could release those in the extreme rear of the trolley.

"In the front part of the car, almost down to the middle, men and women were lying on top of each other, screaming and yelling. It was terrible Blood was everywhere, and we could not move some of them because they were wedged so tightly under the seats."

Doctors attributed the saving of six lives to the quick action of the Red Cross which rushed 60 units of blood plasma from Philadelphia.

The gray-haired motorman of the freight car, Grover Meckley, 54 of Allentown, told officials of the operating company, the Lehigh Valley Transit company, that the accident happened while "I was running under orders."

"You were late on your run?" someone inquired.

"Yes, but I still was running under orders," he reportedly replied.

On orders of Montgomery County Coroner Winslow J. Rushong, Meckley was held overnight in jail at Norristown. The conductor of the freight car, Harry S Custer, 60, is one of the 23 injured

Veteran With 9 'Sons' In Army Rejects Pension

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A Spanish-American war veteran with nine foster sons in this country's armed forces voluntarily gave up his old age pension today to help the war effort.

"I couldn't sit around and let other people do it," the 69-year-old Ottawa county man wrote to the state division of aid for the aged. He explained that current business conditions enabled him to become self - supporting," " letting a younger man be free to engage in defense work."

The division, although withholding the man's name, said investigation showed that the bachelor had reared nine orphan boys and that all had joined the armed forces, eight enlisting.

Acting Chief Karl R. Babb said the division learned that the veteran was one of 24 survivors of the Independent Volunteers commanded by Colonel (later president) Theodore Roosevelt, who stormed San Juan Hill in Cuba.

Have you heard the story of Flick Flockenzier, diminutive Mansfield high school Tyger cager and golfer?

It's quite a yarn, and one that should keep the boys at the 19th hole chattering for some time to come.

It's a story of determination, and plain guts such as you'll seldom run across in the Royal and Ancient pastime of golf, a yarn that you may want to clip to save for your grandchildren. Here 'tis.

* * *

Seems that little Flick, who can't weigh much more than a feather duster, soaking wet, was one of the high school athletes who got a job this spring as a section hand on the railroad, a job calculated to make them rough and tough and hard to bluff.

A picture of tiny Flick Flockenzier tossing railroad ties around is one I can't quite visualize, but that is what he was doing until one day one of those ties slipped and fell on his foot and broke a toe.

"Well, can you tie that?" says Flick, as he hobbled home on one hoof. But it seems he could tie it, railroad ties notwithstanding.

Comes along a caddie tournament at Westbrook Country club, and first prize for the championship flight of 16 qualifiers is the set of golf clubs of the late Al Reynolds, club member, given by his widow.

Now these clubs include a matched set of Bobby Jones irons, and some very good woods, and since many an adult golfer would be very proud to own these sticks, you can imagine the excitement among the Westbrook bag carriers.

And there was Flick Flockenzier, hobbling about on a broken toe and crutches.

Did that stop little Flick Flockenzier? I would like to be stopped the very same way some day.

He entered the tournament, crutches and all. For each shot he'd lay the crutches down, stand firmly on his one good foot, and shakily on the heel of his injured pedal extremity, and swing. Then he'd gather up his crutches and hobble on to the next shot.

For his qualifying round, and for his first test of match play, he went around on crutches. He's still limping around, but without the crutches.

And how did he make out with his handicap? He won medal honors in the qualifying round with a card of 42-42—84. And that's real golf at Westbrook on TWO GOOD FEET!

Funny as a crutch? You said it, keed.

But it wasn't so funny to Flick. They tell me the kid was white as a sheet and ready to topple over when he stumbled up to the clubhouse after that qualifying round.

And now for the end of the story. But the end will not be known until Monday morning when the championship match is played. And the finalists are Flick Flockenzier and Joe Komjenovich, brother of Nick Komjenovich who was Flick's teammate on the high school golf team the past two springs.

Flick Flockenzier, broken toe and all, is favored to win the title, and the golf clubs.

Pennant Race Hits Stretch

Dodgers and Yanks Leave Little To Run For.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE major leagues enter the back stretch of their pennant race today without much to run for except the fun of running.

The double all-star shows, which raised $100,000 for the baseball equipment fund for servicemen, $70,000 for army and navy relief and sold $60,000 in war savings stamps, marked the approximate halfway point in the schedule.

* * *

At the intermission the Brooklyn Dodgers were eight games in front of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league and the world champion New York Yankees had a four-game advantage over the Boston Red Sox in the American.

This makes it apparent to all parties concerned that there no longer is any argument about the eventual pennant winners in either major league.

Whatever chance there was of waylaying the Yanks vanished last week when the champions vanquished the Boston Red Sox in the first two games of a three-game series. This showed that they still are able to suppress all insurgents.

* * *

The Dodgers have had their own way virtually from the start of the season.

* * *

This situation leaves the other clubs in the big top to find whatever satisfaction they can in scrambling for places in the first division and the fans to turn their attention to the competition for individual honors.

SPOKANE, Wash.—(AP)—Corp. Bud Ward, Seattle, national amateur champion and defending titlist, carried medalist honors into the first round of the Western Amateur golf championship today.

Ward's game suffered from lack of practice but he scored a four-under-par 68 yesterday with a 36-hole total of 141. He shot eight birdies to forge ahead of his fellow-townsman, Marsh Hammond, who placed second in the trials with 143.

Wilford Wehrle, Racine, Wis., and Fireman Bruce McCormack of Los Angeles, tied for third with 145.

Fans, Thrown Out By Right Fielder

FORT WORTH, Tex — (Wide World—Stub Overmire, Beaumont pitcher, missed the third strike and the right fielder threw him out at first base!

Sounds whacky, huh?

It happened this way:

Overmire missed his swing and the ball got away from Catcher Russell Rolandson of the Fort Worth Cats.

* * *

Overmire was slow in discovering Rolandson had failed to hold the pitch and was hardly under way when the catcher recovered the ball and threw toward first base.

* * *

The throw was high and overshot First Baseman Charley Baron. It bounded into right field where Fay Starr cut it off and threw back to Baron in time to beat Overmire to the bag.

No Baseball Next Year If War Continues Says Prexy

(Wide World Features)

DALLAS—If the war continues into 1943 there will be no professional baseball in the nation, says J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league—and thus the opportunity will be offered to put the game on a solid basis before its resumption.

Gardner, back from an extensive trip through the midwest and east, brought his endorsement of a plan advanced by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, but not yet formally submitted to the men who guide the leagues.

* * *

"Unless there is a marked change in the war situation, the major leagues will not operate next year," Gardner observed. "They wouldn't be able to get players, because of the war drain, and they wouldn't get the attendance, one of the principal reasons being the rubber and automobile tire shortage."

* * *

The Texas league head took occasion to admit that the optimism of baseball men that wartime would bring increased interest in the game had been misplaced. The view had been that the people would want recreation — would want to get away from their worries.

"The people are not going to see baseball when the nation is in such turmoil over war," Gardner said.

He praised the Landis plan, which, in effect, would do away with chain store baseball as practiced by individual big league clubs and would substitute one big chain — a subsidized program aimed largely at aiding the class B, C and D leagues.

Under this program the major and minor leagues would cooperate in the acquisition, development and advancement of players, employing experienced officials and players to conduct baseball schools, try-out camps, lecture and movie exhibition programs, to cooperate with others interested in amateur and semi-pro ball and in general have charge of all matters connected with the instruction, development and placing of recruit players.

Such players would be placed initially in accordance with their apparent abilities, giving preference within classifications to clubs in territory most adjacent to their homes.

The plan includes subsidies to clubs below A classification such as $1,000 to class D; $1500 to class C, and $2,000 to class B. After reimbursement of the subsidy each club would receive all payments for sale or draft of players contracts. This, Gardner said, would give clubs added incentive to develop players for high company.

The subsidy fund would be a revolving fund. Any deficit would be made up by the major leagues.

Landis' plan would outlaw working agreements between clubs, and, Gardner says, this would prevent the "grooving" of players' advancement through a single club or system.

Clubs acquiring players could assign their contracts to other clubs, outright only, by a fixed date after which they would be subject to selection by clubs of higher classification at such prices as would insure prompt advancement of players as their ability might merit.

There would be no optional assignment of contracts, meaning the filling only of present but not anticipated future needs.

Such players after advancement, if not capable of the higher service, would be subject to reclaim by the clubs from which acquired but at lower prices.

Players, before transfer to clubs of lower classification, would have to be waived by all clubs of higher classification at waiver prices not exceeding those if the players had been selected by the claiming clubs from the classification next below the claiming clubs.

The plan, Gardner says, would do away with competition between major and minor league clubs in signing players because the majors could sign only those players of immediate service to them.

* * *

As pointed out by George Schepps, owner of the Dallas club, which is one of four independently-operated clubs in the Texas league, the chains now are able to pay enough money to gobble up the good players and keep them at their farm clubs until needed. Meanwhile, added Schepps, the independents have to take the leavings.

He says such a state of affairs has lowered the brand of baseball perceptibly in the Texas league.

Landis takes the view his plan would mean "lower profit per sale but high turnover" as against "higher profit per sale but low turnover."

He thinks it would encourage local ownership of clubs which he terms preferable to ownership or control by outsiders.

Then, too, he believes the plan would enable higher clubs to give players opportunity for service without too great financial risk, which would result in constant addition of new blood to teams.

13 Juniors Named For Pacing Stake

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—The Village Farm stake, a $7,675 event for two-year-old pacers, will be the feature of the Grand Circuit program at Goshen raceway today.

* * *

Thirteen juniors were named for the stake, necessitating two elimination heats under the rules of the state racing commission. Widow's Pride, a stake winner here last week in the Vic Fleming stable, is the favorite.

* * *

Austin Hanover, owned by T. G. Graney of Sparkhill, N. Y., and driven by Fred Brooks, won yesterday's feature, the $1,500 Chester stake for junior trotters.

CHARLESTON LEAD CUT TO 4 GAMES

ERIE, Pa.—(AP)—Second place Erie cut loop-leading Charleston's Mid-Atlantic league edge to four games last night, defeating the Senators 3-2. Earlier, the Cleveland Indians walloped Erie 10-1 in an exhibition game.

Dayton defeated Canton 6 to 3 and took over fourth place from the Terriers, while Zanesville and Springfield split a double header, Springfield taking the opener 1-0 and the Cubs the second 12 to 10.

INTERNATIONAL LOOP HELPS WAR FUNDS

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Baseball handed the service relief funds another lump sum last night when nearly 6,000 spectators crowded Offerman stadium to watch the South defeat the North, 6-1, in the International league's first all-star game.

The contest was played for the benefit of the American and Canadian ball and bat funds. Seventy-five percent of the proceeds went to the United States' servicemen's fund and the remainder to the dominion's fund.

Art Rattan turned in a 14-8 victory over Local 758, and Humphrys scored an easy 14-6 victory over Hughes-Keenan after chalking up seven runs in the first frame.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—One story hereabouts is that Clark Griffith isn't worrying about being turned down in his bid for all night games because there's nothing to keep him from starting them by "twilight" and turning on the lights after a couple of innings. . . . Word from the war department is that skeet shooting won't conflict with the war effort. Looks like the opposite from the way the army and navy have been grabbing off skeet stars to teach their fliers how to get 'em on the wing.

PITCH, PUTT, PRAYER.

The Rev. Willis H. Germany of Oklahoma City tells this one about a golfing minister (not himself) . . . When the preacher, who too often committed the golfing sin of looking up, started a round he suggested that his caddy should pray for him. . . . As he addressed his ball, the caddy watched carefully. . . . "Are you praying for me?" the minister asked before he swung. . . . "Yes, suh," came the reply. "Tse praying, but you're gonna have to keep your head down."

SERVICE DEPT.

Lieut. George Earnshaw, who coached the service all-star ball club, is high on the prospects of Frank Baumholtz, who left the squad when he got his commission as ensign the other day. . . . Zeke Bonura recently received his corporal's chevrons down at Camp Shelby, Miss.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Worst errors reported from the two all-star games were committed by a peanut vendor who tried to make a one-hand stab of a quarter on one of those catwalks leading to the upper deck at the Polo Grounds and by the N. Y. World Telegram sports desk, which sent Tim Cohane to Cleveland for the game then ran his story "By Tim Cochrane."

Grove Stays Home From Flag Race First Time In 23 Years

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(Wide World Features)

LONACONING, Md. — Baseball no longer sends a galloping fever through this town tucked away in a pretty green valley.

Even the town's amateur team of last year has folded.

You might even disparage the Boston Red Sox—and survive.

This is a change as cataclysmic as nature's job in fashioning the mountains of Western Maryland some yesterday's ago, but the reason is simple.

Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove is home during the baseball wars for the first time in 23 years, and this pitcher who ranks among the greatest of all time is content in retirement.

"Haven't even had a baseball in my hand, except for those in the show window there," said he with a wave of his cigar.

The show window, with 247 balls from his standout victories in 411 diamond triumphs, fronts a hall with a pool table and three bowling alleys designated simply as "Lefty's Place." Adjoining it is a former saloon, almost empty save for a card table and a watermelon in a little icebox "for the womenfolk when they come in to play Michigan tonight."

Lefty is at the pool hall occasionally, but more likely tending his tomatoes, potatoes, corn, peas, and grapes with the same careful study he once devoted to spotting a batter's weaknesses.

Still more likely he's off fishing, or in season hunting with his two great affectionate dogs, King Alfred and Jif Alfonso.

"It feels great," said Lefty of retirement after 23 years in which "I give them all I had and didn't ask for no corners. I don't have to go through all that traveling. Far as I can see now, I'm going to stay away from baseball, but maybe next year I'll feel a little different."

He says he hasn't seen a ball game or listened to but two innings of one since he stepped out last December from the Red Sox, and declares even the 2,400 townsfolk (he waves like some angular windmill with "Hi Bill, 'Lo Tom" as he strides through his home town) don't pay much attention to the game now that he's not playing.

But the scores are posted each night in the pool room and Lefty's pennant choices are the Yankees "who've got the rest of the league scared," and Brooklyn.

For his money Joe Sewell, one-time Cleveland shortstop, was the toughest batter he ever faced, and Lefty's greatest thrill was hanging up his 300th major league victory last July 25 against Cleveland.

Now 42, and with graying hair, Lefty finds baseball "takes too much outta you," and he turned down a managerial nibble from Trenton of the Interstate league because he thinks the wartime future of the minors, "is a little too erratic." But his weight is down to 202, against playing weight last year of 215, "because working out in a garden under a hot sun keeps you in condition."

His garden runs straight uphill in semi-terraced plots, and from the top of his acres or so you look right over his yellow frame house to the clouds and green hills on the other side of the valley.

He speaks with pride of his daughter, Ethel Doris, who is studying voice, and his son, Bob, at Washington college, Md. Bob pitches (right handed) and in his freshman year hurled 18 innings, allowing only five hits and no runs.

Lefty has never seen him pitch a college game, but admits Bob "has some pretty good stuff."

Baseball is stamped all over the pool hall with pictures, and his comfortable house with more pictures and beautiful plaques and gifts—reminders of years with the Baltimore Orioles, the Athletics and World Series and the Red Sox.

Tribe Resumes League Play

Invades Philadelphia Holding Third Place.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—If Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians intend to make a race of it this year they'll have to do better in this new, second half of the season than they have been doing.

The Tribe resumes its regular clashes against the Philadelphia Athletics tonight in third place, seven games behind the Yankees, and trailing Boston by three contests, while holding only a two-game advantage over Detroit.

Since the fifth-place St. Louis Brownies are as far behind the Indians as the Tribesmen are in the rear of New York, there would seem to be little argument about Cleveland's chances of reaching the modest first division goal established last winter by Boudreau, who turns 25 this month.

Lefty Al Smith was Boudreau's probable choice to start the eastern invasion, with Phil Marchildon expected to go for Connie Mack's boys.

Lou collected three hits in five trips to the platter—including a homer with Mate Ray Mack on the sacks—to lead the Indians in a 10 to 1 triumph over the Erie Mid-Atlantic league club before 3,000 fans at Erie yesterday.

Coach's Orders Misconstrued

CORVALLIS, Ore. — (Wide World) — Oregon State's football team was nursing a 9 to 6 lead late in last fall's game against Washington.

An O.S.C. halfback, trapped behind his line, heaved a wild lateral, but the Beavers retained possession of the ball.

Coach Lon Stiner leaped to his feet and started instructing a substitute. An official standing near the sidelines cracked:

"S'matter Lon? Afraid there goes your job?"

Stine ignored the official and told the boy to "go in there and tell them to quit throwing that ball around. Play it safe. Look at the clock."

The sub dashed to the field, dived into a huddle. Then the huddle broke into wild laughter. Afterwards Stiner learned what happened. The befuddled sub, still mindful of the official's remark, had yelped at his teamamtes:

"The coach said for you guys to quit throwing his job around! . . ."

DEFENDS TITLE

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP)—Reggie Myles, Cleveland professional, will defend his title for the second successive year in the $500 Poland open golf tournament next Sunday and Monday. Officials expect a field of more than 100 to compete in the 36-hole meet.

Buckeyes Get Star Swimmer

Record Holder Enters Ohio State University.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio State university's swimming championship hopes soared today as Bill Smith, the 18-year-old "flying fish" from Hawaii, arrived on the campus and announced he would enter the Buckeye school.

* * *

The kid from the islands, son of a former Detroit Irish policeman and an Hawaiian mother, holds all the free-style world records from 220 yards to the mile. The marks, set more than a year ago, recently were accepted by the A. A. U.

Coach Mike Peppe, noted for his production of champion divers—including such stars as Jim Patterson, Earl Clark and Al Patnik—was full of smiles and optimism.

"Smith's entry at Ohio State will put the world's two greatest free style swimmers on our squad," the Buckeye mentor said. "Smith can't be eligible until the fall of 1943, but little Kiyoshi Nakama, also from the islands, will be ready to go in September, having completed his freshman year."

Both youngsters, Peppe said, would compete in the National Outdoor championships Aug. 7, 8 and 9 at New London, Conn., and are expected to put on another show like their 1941 effort when they cleaned up the free-style division.

In the National Outdoor meets, in two tries, Nakama has won the 220, 440, 800 and mile, along with the 440-yard and 1,500-meter indoor events. Smith has never competed in the Indoor Nationals, but has won the 200-meter and 440-yard Outdoor races.

* * *

The two stars, each with a victory over the other in last year's Nationals, will room together at Ohio State, Peppe said.

In reply to a question as to how the swimming future looks, Peppe said:

"Well, we may have worries somewhere along the line, but they won't center around the free-style events. Those two kids are liable to make a great coach out of me."

Warneke Gets Starting Role

Card Veteran Claimed on Waivers By Cubs.

CHICAGO —(AP)— There is a regular starting role awaiting Lean Lou Warneke, 33-year-old National league pitching veteran, whose return to Chicago's Cubs after five and a half years comes as much of a surprise as did his trade to the St. Louis Cards in 1936.

* * *

"I'll use him right away and I'll use him regularly," Manager Wilson said today. "We've needed another starting pitcher all along."

* * *

To which General Manager James Gallagher added:

"He has an arm that still has some pitching skill left in it. He is a steady workman and our pitching staff needs steadying."

Werneke, himself had this to say:

"Sure, I'm glad to be coming back to my old stomping grounds. Although that old fireball is gone, I still think I'm a pretty fair chucker."

He was to arrive today.

Announcement yesterday by St. Louis officials that Werneke had been claimed at the waiver price of $7,500 surprised even the Cubs. Gallagher said he had put in a claim several days ago, but had heard nothing since.

URGES AUDIT OF INDUSTRIAL BOARD'S FUNDS

Knisely Declares Commission Never Has Had Check-Up on $92,000,000.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Clarence H. Knisley, who resigned as a member of the Ohio Industrial Commission to seek the Democratic nomination for governor, has today had issued what he called a "non-political" statement recommending certain reforms in the commission.

His first recommendation was that the commission's funds, now estimated at $92,000,000, be subject to financial audit "at least every two years."

"So far as I could discover, these funds have never had a financial audit and nobody knows definitely if these funds are in good condition," his statement said.

Another part of the statement contained suggestions for increasing commission personnel to speed up claims payments.

"Many employes in the industrial commission are working many overtime hours at meager wages in order that the work may keep moving," he said. "The commission in recent months has lost many experienced people who could not subsist on the low wages paid."

He suggested that a study be made on the matter of abolishing the state industrial relations department and merging its functions with those of the industrial commission. He said that there was much duplication in their work.

Knisley's other recommendations included:

That state compensation funds, for public employes, be kept solvent "at all times, if for no other reason than to set an example for private industry." (He said the fund was insolvent by about $1,250,000.)

That premium payments by employers should be made quarterly and maturity dates on all workmen's compensation premiums should be uniform. (Employers now pay on a six months basis.)

That minimum premiums charged small business men and farmers be reduced.

That the commission's personnel be hired by the commission rather than through the governor's office.

That a three-member board representing labor, employers and the public be established to pass on appeals filed by employers regarding violation on elevators, as cited by the industrial relations department.

That the law be modified in silicosis cases so that a workman who contracts silicosis may be paid a disability claim when the disability exceeds 50 per cent.

That funeral benefits should be set at a $250 maximum instead of $200.

Knisley's resignation as a commission member representing the public became effective June 30. He had served three and a half years.

CHAPTER XXVII

At 11 o'clock the party with Ronnie and his friends rallied. Night life took on a new zest. People began to pour in from the theaters. The two young women for whom Kay practically had ceased to exist went to the powder room. They remained so long that Kay thought they must have taken French leave, gone on to bigger and better playgrounds. She whispered as much to Ronnie, adding that she, too, must be on her way shortly.

"They'll be back," he said. "They're shining up for the shank of the evening. They belong to the fun-begins-at-midnight set. Anything going on before 12 to them is merely marking time."

Just when their escorts, immured as they were to such vagaries, began to show impatience the young women returned to the table. Ronnie's prediction was right. They were fresh and shining as though they had this minute stepped from a beauty salon, smooth as silk and brittle as glass.

"I thought you'd given me the gate," one young man said to the girl who had been befogged or belligerent all evening.

"Why darling!" she gave him her most radiant smile. "How perfectly putrid of you. And what an idea to have about me—you of all people!"

"Never mind the chi-chi," the young man said, sullenly. "I threw my teething ring away day before yesterday."

The young woman shrugged her shoulders.

"Beast," she said. Her eyes roved the room, questing.

Kay was glad to step from the glitter of it all into the open air. Somehow her presence had been a clashing note in the party, no matter how anxiously she sought to adjust herself to its tempo. Surely she had not changed so much in the little while since parties had become an avocation, not the main purpose of her life. Yet these glossy young women resented her. They had received her adieus with outward indifference, but she was sure, with inner satisfaction.

"Why so silent?" Ronnie asked, when they were in a taxi. "Want to change your mind and go back to the business of the evening?"

"Oh no!" she said so eagerly that Ronnie laughed, not too happily.

"It was pretty much of a dirge," he said. "Sorry."

"But Ronnie, it wasn't. That's what worries me. I seemed to be all out of tune. They didn't like me."

"The men liked you plenty. The gals—well—no use mincing matters, they'd have liked to give you the boot. In the first place you were the best-looking number in the place. Maybe they wore the clothes, but you made them look like overdressed dolls. You made them sound phoney too. Not what you said, but because you're you. You were putting on Red Kenyon, not an act. You're a menace to their way of life. They were out to clip you."

Kay said, "Thanks Ronnie. I hope you're right in the first place, wrong in the second. Every girl wants to look as well or better than every other girl. That's our feminine nature. But no girl wants to be a target for suspicion of her sex. She doesn't want to arouse other women's antagonism. A real woman has as many friends and admirers among women as she has among men. That's what worries me, Ron. At home there was Tally and Eunice, even Elsa, my own cousin . . . they resent me, at times actually hated me. And now tonight, two young women, strangers—"

"Oh ho!" Ronnie said. "So you pick out the soreheads, lump them together and wonder what you do to get them that way. Don't you know, Red, that every time a human being sticks his head up above the mediocre the soreheads who have to look up take pot shots at him? Or at her? Tally and Eunice and Elsa. There's a trio of hell-cats for you. They not only hate you, they hate themselves. They hate you for your superiority. They hate themselves for their inferiority. For every one of them you have dozens of loyal friends in Somerset who give you their sincere affection and their hearty applause. Forget the meows. Keep your eyes on the cheering section."

"I believe you're right." Kay had never felt as close to Ronnie as she did tonight. "I needed bucking up. You've done a grand job of it, chum."

"Good. Then file my application for permanent bucker-upper. I crave to sign for the duration of our natural lives."

Kay was relieved to find the taxi drawing to the curb in front of her hotel. A serious Ronnie disarmed her. She was in no mood to consider the suit of any man. Any man? She pushed away the question mark. This was no time for emotional conjecture. She had work to do. This first. Later . . . but that was for some tomorrow. Sufficient unto the day . . . .

"Ronnie," Kay said, "you're a swell person."

She put up her lips for a fleeting kiss. Ronnie was so astounded that Kay had gone before he could recover. It was the first time she had permitted him to kiss her. She was not a girl who gives or takes kisses lightly.

The usual hum vibrated through the office of National Candies when Kay entered in the morning.

Ed Ellis met her with, "We're having kettle trouble, Miss Kenyon. Nu-Novelties say they can't have those miniature iron kettles ready a day earlier than two weeks. They've got to be cast."

"But the contract said ten days." Kay opened her desk. "The order was predicated on that clause."

"I know. I told 'em we'd hold 'em to the contract. They say it's impossible to deliver in that time. The boss is having pups."

PACKARD-LABOR PEACE PROGRAM BOOSTS OUTPUT

Company, Employes Join In 'Work To Win' Program.

(By United Press)

DETROIT—The Packard Motor Car company and its employes have joined hands in a cooperative, "Work to Win" program to obtain maximum output of aircraft and marine engines for the duration of the war.

The firm which built a reputation in peacetime as a maker of automobiles for the "carriage trade" and its workers, majority of whom are affiliated with the United Automobile Workers (CIO), were the first in the automotive industry to adopt the joint management-labor plan advocated by War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson.

Packard, which now employs 5,000 more men than it did during its pre-war peak, said the "Work to Win" program is designed to stimulate productive activity by rewarding outstanding achievements of individual workers. Union officials describe the plan as "a speed up of machines, not of men."

The program is divided into three major divisions of activity. It includes obtaining signature of shop workers on a voluntary "best effort" pledge card; recognition awards in the form of pins for exceptional production achievements and efficiency suggestions and a school for training unskilled workers and "upgrading" semi-skilled employes. Departmental and divisional production excellence also is encouraged and rewarded.

Departments which fall behind established production marks qualify for the "behind the 8-ball banner" until they improve their rating. Posters exhorting the men to do their best for the men on the firing lines are placed throughout the plant. Workers are genuinely enthusiastic about the plan, according to Curt Murdock, president of the UAW-CIO local at Packard, and "intend to put this drive over."

A large portion of the credit for success of the "Work to Win" plan belong to George T. Christopher, 54, Packard's new president. Christopher is proud of Packard's harmonious relations with its employes. He likes to recall that he started in the industry 30 years ago as a drill press operator.

"And sometimes," he adds modestly, "I don't think I've gotten very far away."

Packard plunged into the defense program early and now is producing Rolls Royce liquid-cooled airplane engines and power plants for the swift, deadly navy mosquito boats on a quantity basis. At peak war production this fall the firm is expected to employ about 14,000 more men than it ever did in peacetime.

Ferguson, who retired from duty as a trainman in 1937 after 46 years of service, is credited with having manned the Frackville Observation Post at least six hours a day and seven days a week since the warning tower was constructed several months ago.

INDUSTRIALS EXTEND BRISK MARKET RALLY

Hopeful Note Discovered In Bank Clearings Above Those of 1941.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading industrial stocks extended their brisk rally of Wednesday by fractions in today's market proceedings.

Gainers included U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, Texas company, Yellow Truck, Glenn Martin, Anaconda, Eastern Air Lines and Firestone Tire. Among scattered losers were Bethlehem, Du Pont and Goodyear.

Market followers discerned a moderately hopeful note in the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing that bank clearings in 23 cities during the past week, while slipping under the preceding week's figure because of the July 4 holiday, were 16.9 per cent above a year ago. The Independence day recession was about half that of the same time last year.

Also cheering was the survey of the Engineering News-Record placing the country's heavy engineering awards for the week ended Tuesday at the second highest aggregate on record. The week's contracts amounted to $401,603,000, an increase of 84½ per cent over the week before and 34 per cent over the like 1941 period.

JAPS MAINTAIN ALASKA THREAT

Aleutian Bases Continue To Hold; Seen as Danger To U. S. and Russia.

ing in supplies and reinforcements for a month, probably from their own Kurile islands, only 75 miles southwest of Attu.

This was indicated clearly by a recent navy communique which disclosed that just a week ago an American patrol plane observed three Japanese transports with escorting vessels off the island of Agattu, 35 miles southeast of Attu.

While American bombers attacked this force and inflicted an unknown amount of damage and a U. S. sub later sunk a destroyer in this invasion armada, it was presumed that some of the enemy ships reached their destination and others may be en route.

Their very presence in that area a month after the original bombing attack upon Dutch Harbor can only mean that the Japanese are taking their invasion of the Aleutians seriously and that they intend to make use of their toehold on the American archipelago.

Ever since the attack on Dutch Harbor, American army bombers have been seeking enemy invasion forces in the North Pacific with some success, but fog has screened Nipponese movements much of the time with the result that the full scope of the occupation still is shrouded in mystery.

U. S., Chinese Planes Fire Jap Oil Stores

CHUNGKING —(U.P.)— American and Chinese warplanes, striking at Japan's key base along the Yangtze river, left eight large fires burning in a heavy raid on oil storage tanks and wharves at Hankow last Monday, a communique from the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell said today.

The communique confirmed that several Japanese planes were destroyed during the July Fourth raid on Canton. Previous accounts of the attack said results were undetermined because of poor visibility.

Monday's raid was the second on Hankow in less than a week. In the first attack on July 2, Allied bombers destroyed 12 grounded planes at the Hankow airfield and sunk an enemy gunboat at its Yanktze river dock.

The Allied attrackers were credited with destroying 77 Japanese planes in their first three raids last week on enemy bases at Hankow, Nanchang and Canton.

A military spokesman said that 30,000 Japanese troops were being concentrated in a new enemy drive southwest from Nanchang in an attempt to seize the 200-mile Kiangsi-Hunan railway.

OLD EMPLOYES CANCEL PICNIC

Annual Lamp Works Outing at Shelby Called Off For Duration.

SHELBY — The annual Lamp Works picnic has been cancelled for the duration of the war.

The annual affair, unique among picnics in this city because it brought together former employes of the old Lamp Works company that had not operated for 23 years, had been scheduled for August at Seltzer park.

Cancellation of the picnic was decided last night when the committee planning the 1942 event met at the home of Mrs. Ed Sutter.

It was decided that the present officers would continue to serve as the planning committee until another picnic could be held. They are: Mrs. Sutter, president; Mrs. Eulalia Precht, vice president; Mrs. B. V. Hollenbaugh, secretary; and Mrs. Ira Post, treasurer.

The annual reunion was started in 1919 and has been held almost every year since then. Only a few persons attended the first outing but since then the picnic attendance had grown.

HUNT SLAYER OF POLICEMAN

Authorities Seek Youthful Bandit Who Shot Father.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Norwood and Cincinnati police hunted today for a young man who fired three .45-calibre shots into Sergeant Anthony Overberg, 38, wounding him fatally, in a drugstore the officer had been assigned to guard against holdup.

Overberg, father of two children, died shortly before midnight last night, weakened both by loss of blood and by his futile effort to hold the slayer despite his wounds.

Police Chief Charles Frtiz had stationed Oberberg and nine other policemen in plain clothes in various stores about Norwood in an effort to combat a wave of robberies.

10 GOOD REASONS FOR MAKING A LOAN

There are many reasons why we make loans today—to pay the doctor, the dentist, to keep the old car running, to take a training course, for traveling expenses to a better job, for moving expenses, to repair or paint the house, to lay in the winter supply of coal now, to pay past-due bills and charge accounts, to meet unexpected cash emergencies.
